

Spotlight on Arizona's Kids: A Closer Look at the Child Welfare System

April, 2019

Presented by
Erica Quintana, Policy Analyst

The Study and Approach

The Arizona Community Foundation asked Morrison Institute to determine how to best use its expertise to improve child and family outcomes in Arizona.

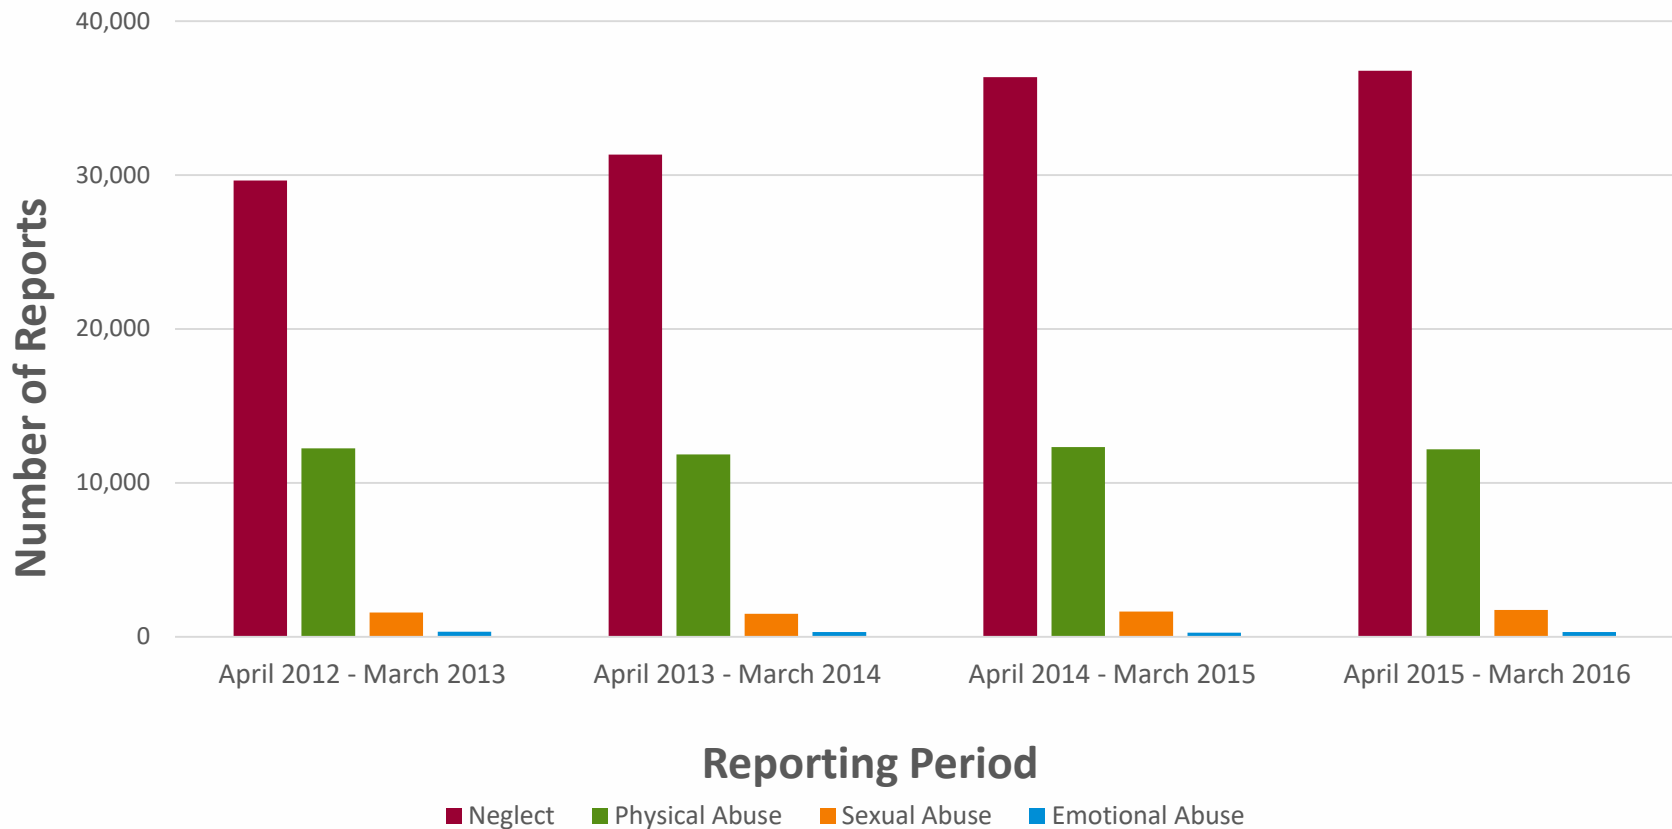

Collaboration and partnership between ACF, Morrison Institute for Public Policy, the Department of Child Safety, and the community

DCS and the community responded requesting more information about types of neglect

Neglect in Arizona

In Arizona, on average about 70.4% of all reports from April 2012 to March 2016 were neglect reports

Reports by Reporting Period and Type of Maltreatment

Neglect terms for our study

Supervisory	Physical	Medical	Emotional	Substance-exposed Newborn
Abandonment	Inadequate food	Denial or delay of medical health care	Inadequate nurturing/affection
Expulsion	Inadequate clothing	Denial or delay of dental health care	Unrealistic developmental expectation
Shuttling	Poor hygiene	Denial or delay of mental health care
Dangerous exposure	Inadequate shelter
Dangerous exposure related to domestic violence
Deliberate exposure of a sexual nature
Inappropriate caregiver
Failure to prevent risky behavior or allowing/encouraging maladaptive behavior
Permit a child's drug and alcohol use
Lack of supervision

Methodology of neglect analysis

All reports from calendar years
2013-2015

Two strata:

- Reports involving a removal within 30 days of the hotline call
- Reports never involving a removal

400 randomly selected cases in each stratum allow for 95% confidence level with a confidence interval of 5

- Reports with no removal
77,816
- Reports with a removal within 30 days of hotline call 8,212

Reports not involving removal

Reports Never Involving a Removal for Calendar Years 2013-2015, by Type of Neglect

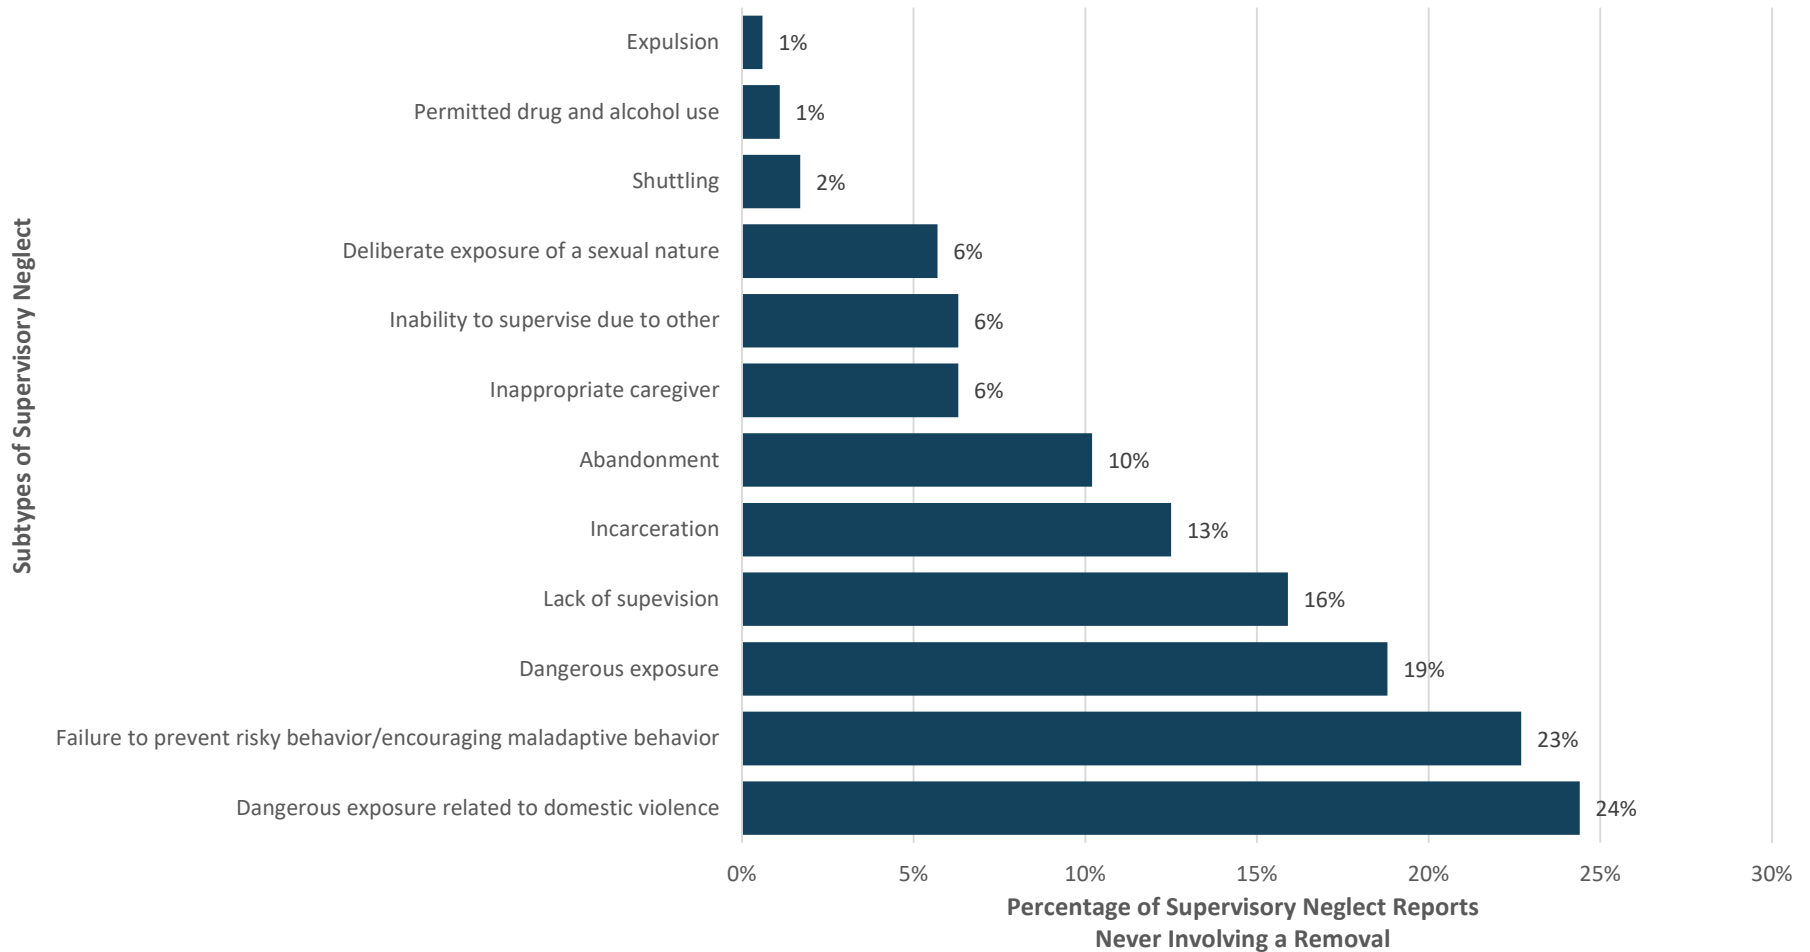

Reports involving a removal

Reports Involving a Removal within 30 Days for Calendar Years 2013-2015, by Type of Neglect

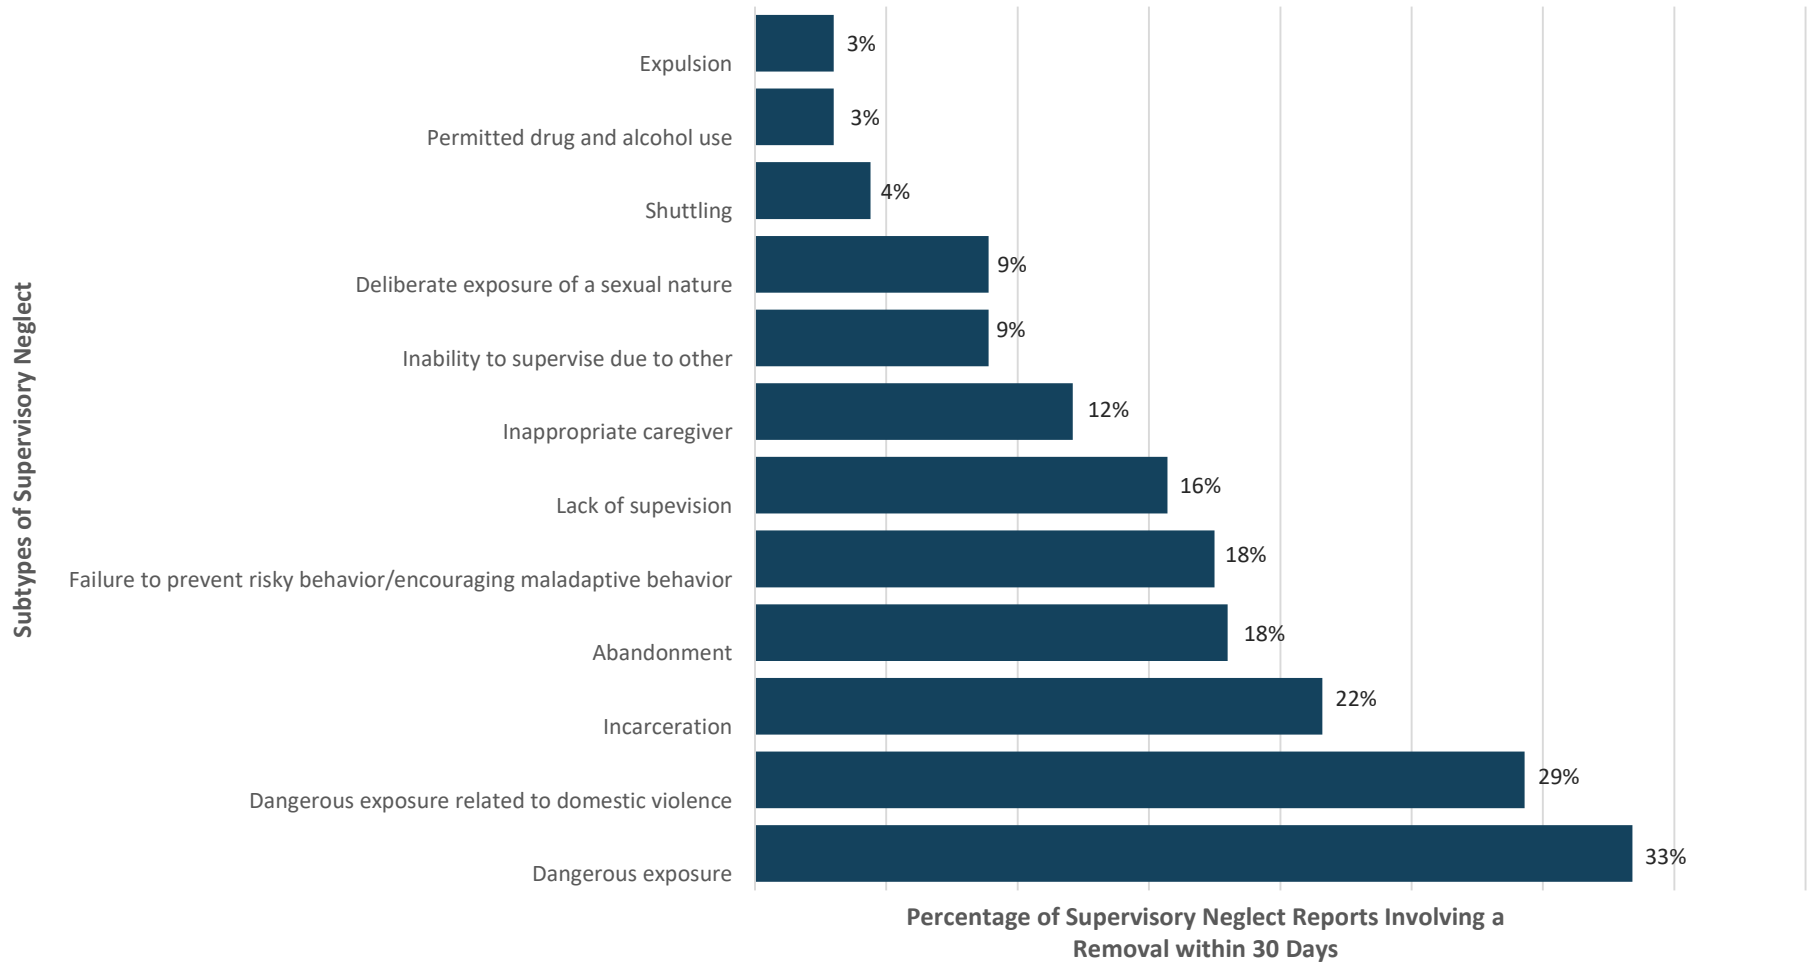

Reports not involving removal: Supervisory

Reports Never Involving a Removal for Calendar Years 2013- 2015, by Supervisory Neglect Subtype

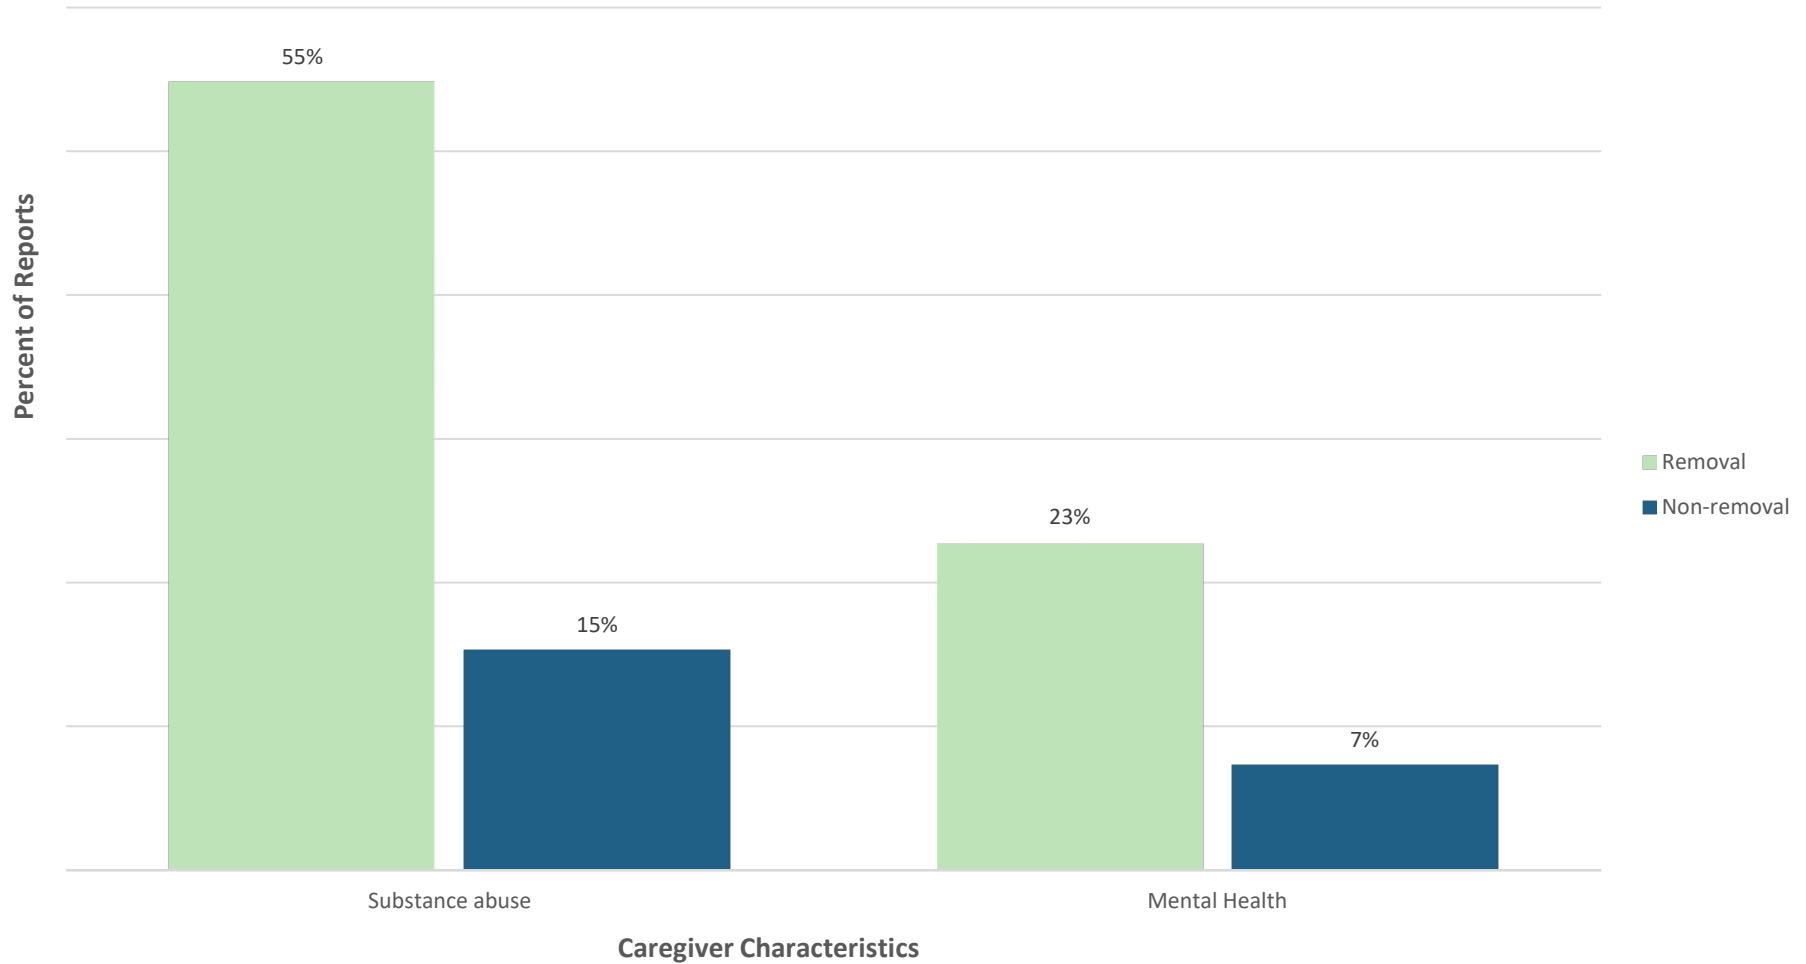

Reports involving a removal: Supervisory

Reports Involving a Removal within 30 Days for Calendar Years 2013-2015, by Supervisory Neglect Subtype

Characteristics of caregivers

Prevalence of Mental Health and Substance Abuse in Assessment and Investigation Narrative, by Removal Status for Calendar Years 2013-2015

Project Next Steps

Additional research and analysis:

- Identify prevention services offered in Arizona, evidence-based practices recommended in literature, and develop policy options
 - Gather data about current services, number of people served, and geographic area of coverage
 - Identify useful measures for estimating need for services
 - Compare service availability to need for service and provide policy options for increasing services in targeted areas.

Morrison Institute website

ASU Home ▾ My ASU Colleges and Schools ▾ Map and Locations ▾ Directory | SIGN IN

Search Q

Morrison Institute for Public Policy

Home News Events Publications Blogs Kyl Water Center Latino Center Legislative Academy Contribute About ▾

Morrison Institute for Public Policy

A trusted voice of balance and fairness

While other institutions may single out for study a particular side of an argument, the Morrison Institute has developed a uniquely nonpartisan model recognizing that Arizona's past and future always favor independence. Our research cuts across all boundaries of age, ethnicity, gender, economic status and locale. That's why research undertaken by Morrison Institute addresses all sides of an issue and all those impacted by the policy enacted.

Recent News

Western states agree to plan on Colorado River water | March 22, 2019

Highlights

Our Vision

Ensure that all Arizona children are safe at home

Success is providing stronger protection for Arizona's children against maltreatment through prevention.